According to a Herald survey, in Culture healthy here

It should come as no surprise to anyone in the Northwest suburbs that the 30,000 or 40,000 persons who crowded into the Woodfield Grand Court on Oct. 2 were a bunch of cultural illiterates.

After all, that's how one reader - Lillian Gorcik of Buffalo Grove - viewed that crowd in a Fence Post letter which responded to a column this writer had written on the occasion of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra's free concert.

Ms. Gorcik's precise words were "culturally unsophisticated," and she emphasized that the concert "inspired" her to hear the symphony in Chicago, "where I can listen in peace and in the company of people who truly love serious music."

Well, if Ms. Gorcik believes that a noisy crowd and the lack of a 40,000-seat concert hall equals Babbittry, then perhaps this area should be described as a cultural wasteland.

However, I don't believe that all of those persons at Woodfield on Oct. 2 were casual shoppers who stopped to hear the orchestra. Rather, the size of the crowd seems to say a great deal about the vitality of culture in the Northwest suburbs.

Yes, this area has been a step-child of Chicago, as Ms. Gorcik contends, but to charge that the suburbs have made no contribution to the arts in Chicago is blindness to the fact that many suburbanites still attend the best of what Chi-rium here - but there are persons and institutions here working to build auditoriums that can handle the concerts, the plays, and the other examples of "culture" which some critics charge don't

But the mere appearance of the orchestra in a too-noisy hall (we agree on that, Ms. Grocik) is a sign that the orchestra might come out here again.

Ms. Gorcik, and others who view culture as a one-dimensional beast limited to the better orchestras, better ballets and better drama, are also missing the fact that "culture" is much, much more than a prestigious orchestra.

Here there is high school drama. theatre groups, high school bands, small art galleries, dancing schools and the thousands of other examples of a vigorous local culture.

Rips Halloween's 'house'

It all depends on what you define as "culture," Ms. Gorcik. I'll predict that, in the next 10 or 20 years, you'll find not only these home-grown examples, but the symphony and other prestigious groups, out in the suburbs.

As this area grows and Chicago's population declines, more and more persons aren't going to go to the city to hear "serious" music. Whether you and other "serious music" critics can change your thinking and are able to push the need for large-scale music facilities here, Ms. Gorcik, may determine the fate of serious music in Chicago.

There's little that can be said to ease the pain felt last week in Elk Grove Village by the death of Bob Haskell, Elk Grove High School principal.

He was an open, friendly man whose firm handshake reflected his commitment to the people of Elk Grove Village. Bob Haskell's personal journey has ended far too early, for all the people who knew and liked him.

two young children. It might have been more aptly called "hell house" as far as the younger one was concerned. There was no prior indication that this was to be the case. Although such Halloween projects have traditionally been scary, they have also almost invariably contained an element of fun as well. But lifelike guillotines and human dissecting tables can hardly be said to fall within this category.

The methods used by the gentlemen manning these grisly exhibits were also inappropriate. Pursuit by a figure with a knife whom a youngster has just seen crouching beside a table littered with dismembered limbs cannot fail to excite feelings of fear and apprehension.

It is my opinion, and this opinion has been echoed by a number of responsible citizens in Elk Grove, that the Jaycees' haunted house was not suitable for very young children. I also happen to believe that it was ill conceived and executed, and did a disservice to all the parents of sensitive children who attended it.

Let's give a little more thought to what we are trying to do, in 1975, Jaycees! An understanding of children's basic needs can make a haunted house a delightfully rewarding experience. Better luck next homeowner picks up the tab for special assessments down people's throats. We'd rather let people tell us what they want than us telling them what to have."

> In Arlington Heights, however, there's a board of local improvements that tells homeowners what's good for them, and then presents them with a bill for the projects. The homeowner has little, if any, voice in the matter.

Recently, the board of local improvements announced a sidewalk construction project in the village's northeast section, and it enraged local residents who charged that three old subdivisions — Scarsdale, Stonegate and Sherwood - have been spared sidewalks under village policies.

The board also decided that a portion of Northwest Highway needed streetlights, and that persons owning property would pay for the lights, even though there's little evidence it will increase the property value of the homes along that stretch of highway.

Such forced projects might be justified if the village could prove a safety hazard, but such justification is seldom, if ever, presented by the village.

The problem in Arlington Heights goes deeper than a village administration that thinks it knows best about sidewalks and streetlights. In other communities, any official who unitoterally foisted off such costly projects on the public would find himself quickly out of office, for in other communities two-party politics still works.

In Arlington Heights, however, a caucus assures that a clique of like-minded citizens run the village, so that this nonsensical policy of forced sidewalks and forced streetlights continues to exist.

"Forced improvements" are simply not the answer. What Arlington Heights and other communities need is cooperation, under which officials and residents work together to set up a reasonable, noncoercive improvement plan. Only when residents demand such an reasonable policy will it become a reality.

Will Ford call Nixon for foreign policy aid?

by RICHARD LERNER

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Ford's reluctance to stop sending classified national security briefings to his predecessor evidently stems from the high degree of personal diplomacy that occurred during Richard M. Nixon's years in the White Officially, Ford's spokesmen have said that by supplying such information to Nixon he is merely continuing a traditional courtesy afforded former Presidents.

They insist that Nixon is not serving as an adviser to Ford.

But some presidential aides acknowledge privately that Ford wants Nixon kept posted in case it becomes necessary to call on him in the course of formulating foreign policy.

They say such a need could arise because Nixon might be the only one Ford could turn to if he had to find out about specific negotiations at the highest level, especially between the United States and the Soviet Union or

These officials suggest that is particularly true with Ford preparing to hold his first summit meeting with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev late next month. If Nixon were not available, these officials say Ford would have to rely almost entirely on Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger to get any direct information on previous summit conferences.

So far, White House aides sa on has not contacted Ford to discuss any of the policy plans which have been outlined for the former President in briefing materials prepared by the National Security Council

Initially, the information was delivered to Nixon in California by special Air Force courier planes flying out from Washington about every seven to 10 days.

But on Oct. 11, Ford halted those flights. White House spokesmen refused to give any explanation, saying only that they had been "deferred" for the time being and that Ford was studying "alternative" means of getting the information to Nixon.

The next two briefings were sent to Nixon via military electronic circuits linking the "situation room" in the White House basement with a Coast Guard station adjacent to Nixon's San Clemente estate.

The method of delivery was changed before Nixon's return to the hospital and White House spokesmen say the two developments were unre-

They are unwilling, however, to say what kind of classification is on the briefing materials or to say whether Nixon still has a "top secret" clearance.

Beyond that, they have been unwilling or unable to say who else sees the material in addition to Nixon and what happens to it after the former President reads it.

Questions about those subjects have risen among some of Nixon's old friends, including members of Congress. They have hinted that the former President has shown signs of emotional instability in addition to his recurring phlebitis condition.

One Democratic congressman claimed not long ago that Nixon was a security risk, but the White House declined comment.

White House spokesmen also are not predicting how much longer Nixon will continue to receive the briefindication that Ford plans to cut them off any time soon.

Naperville land donations law upheld in court

Northwest suburban communities that require school and park land donations in exchange for approval of residential developments had their practices endorsed by a Du Page County court ruling last

Circuit Court Judge George Unverzagt of Du Page County upheld a Naperville ordinance that required land or cash donations as part of annexation proceedings or legal subdivisions of land.

The suit challenging Naperville's law was filed by the Home Builders Assn. of Greater Chicago along with several builders who have projects in Naperville.

The ordinance relies on the city's home-rule status under the 1970 Illinois Constitution to justify the land or cash donation requirements.

THE CASE now will be appealed on the basis that the donation requirements violate both the state and federal constitutions, a spokesman for the Home Builders Assn. said Friday.

"When developers are forced to donate, the home buyer has to pay for it anyway. It's double taxation," the spokesman said.

The court ruling is of particular interest to the three local communities which have actual written requirements for land donations or cash when a development is approved.

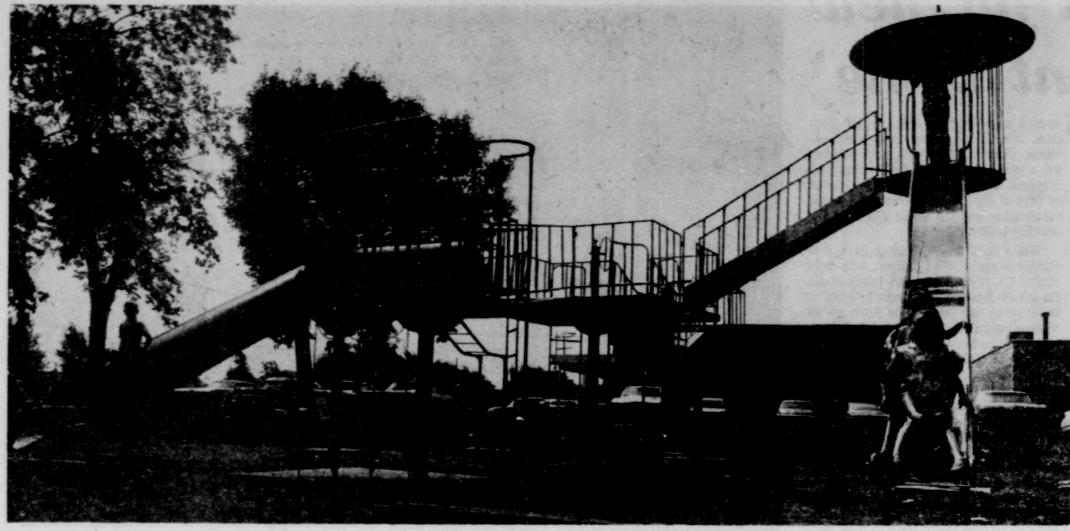

BUFFALO GROVE, which has a written village board resolution requiring donations, is the only local community on a coordinating committee of communities who have worked with Naperville to back the city ordinance in court.

Buffalo Grove Village Mgr. Daniel Larson said his village's requirements are similar to the Naperville law in that they are based on estimated populations rather than on the land size of the devel-

In taking time to think before acting or reacting, Roadhouse said practicing breath meditation can also help one learn to make better decisions about what is really important and what isn't.

"Most people don't decide to turn on the TV or the radio or go to a movie, they just do it," he said. "These are people who say they have to do a lot of things they don't really have to do. When they become aware of how they're spending their time they find that out."

ROADHOUSE said he first learned of breath meditation last year from the teachings of a Tibetan master named Chogyam Trungpa, who has opened several meditation centers around the

The psychotherapist stressed that he isn't interested in promoting breath meditation as some exotic method of reaching a mystic level of consciousness. It is merely one technique he uses, Roadhouse said, in his work.

"This is just one vehicle that's part of a relaxing process that's certainly one of my goals here," he said. "It's a way of helping people get rid of their garbage like how they waste time, their worries. tensions, anxieties and fears - most of which aren't connected with reality. Cougars looking northwest for new 'permanent home'

What began as an attempt to build one of the most modern hockey arenas in the country has turned into a $4 million fiasco for owners of the Chicago Coua new site in the Northwest suburbs.

Charging a conspiracy to delay construction existed between Donald Stephens, village president of Rosemont, the village in which the facility was to have been built, and Jack Pritzker, owner of the Hyatt Regency O'Hare Hotel, Cougar officials have severed negotiations and are looking for a new home.

"We are now free to go anyplace." said Walter Kaiser, president of the World Hockey Assn. club, who proved that hindsight is best when he said, "If we would have proceeded in Palatine, we would have an arena up by now."

The reference to Palatine was made because the village was at one time the leading candidate as the site of the arena before the Cougars decided a final, 12thhour bid by Rosemont was too good to pass up. But, since July 1973, when plans were announced, there has been a series of frustrations for the team's owners which has threatened the life of the fran-

"IT IS ECONOMICALLY unfeasible to run a major league hockey club without a major league hockey arena," Kaiser said. "It's not a matter of speculation" where the team builds. "It's a matter of going quickly. Time is of the essence."

Hoping to build a home to match the arenas the other 31 professional hockey teams have built or are erecting, the Cougars have seen their goal repeatedly delayed - first by homeowners who didn't want to be displaced and then, the Cougars claimed, by persons seeking to benefit from their misfortunes.

The club's owners, in a separate $3 million suit filed early last week in Circuit Court, charged Rosemont officials did not act in good faith when they entered into an agreement to build the arena. But more serious are the charges made in the $10 million suit filed Friday. Kaiser charged that both Stephens and Pritzker were responsible for the arena delays. It is believed Cougar officials felt the two men were more interested in the construction of an adjoining convention center, which was part of the $20 million sports complex originally planed to be built by Rosemont and leased to the Cougars. Stephens, besides being mayor, is owner of the Caravelle motel in Rose-

The Cougars never wanted to build the convention center in the first place. They wanted an all-purpose home for the Cougars, the Chicago Aces, a professional tennis team Kaiser owns, and possibly for a professional basketball team. But Stephens insisted the center be included gars' Hockey Club, who have filed a $10 as part of the bargain. Now it is under million damage suit while searching for construction and the arena still is on the drawing board.

"WE CAN'T PLAY hockey in a convention center," said Kaiser, who concluded the whole thing isn't funny at all. He is now loooking for a new location to build on by the end of the year, so an arena can be ready for the 1975-76 season. And the Northwest suburbs is an inviting area, Kaiser says. "We have found in our surveys," said Kaiser, "this area is the best possible place for us."

Speculation has centered around property Kaiser owns with his brother Jordan in Palatine, Elk Grove Village and elsewhere, but the Cougar president said these sites are too small. But, he said, the fact that he is desperate to get an arena up as soon as possible may force him to build a smaller place to play. Kaiser also said he might have to seek partners to help finance the construction.

As for Palatine, Village Pres. Wendell E. Jones indicated there may be a willingness on the part of village officials to resume negotiations with the Cougars.

'We are always interested in communicating with people in what we feel is the best interest of the village," Jones said. One of the main stumbling blocks in reaching an agreement last time was determining a "legitimate public purpose for us to be involved with a private enterprise," he said. At the time, the only public purpose the village could come up with "was to make money."

Indeed, the main attraction to the arena is the tax dollars it could generate. Estimates a year and a half ago indicated that more than $350 million would be grossed annually. Jones said the tax dollarrs still are attractive, but adds, "We don't want a $20 million white elephant on our hands, but then I'm not sure the project couldn't be scaled down

Elizabeth Janeway talks of equality

Listen to the feminine voices, fellows. Don't tune us out. When you turn the deaf ear, you're just multiplying everyone's problems of today's Elizabeth Janeway, lecturer and author, puts matters this way: "The greatest barrier that women have to overcome is that men don't listen to

Mrs. Janeway suggested that men not only heed but also "listen with the possibility in mind that some of what women say may not only be serious but even sensible.

"For the first time in history perhaps, it is women's experience which is changing faster and more radically than that of men.

"In itself that bears witness to the profundity of the changes and it might alert man to the value of looking at them.

"Certainly it will not be easy to overcome men's fears of the effects of change in women's role and image, but these fears are grounded in mythology that is less and less in tune with social actuality."

Mrs. Janeway, whose husband is Eliot, the economist, discussed her views on what's happening in the equality of the sexes movement during an interview. They're also the subject of her new book, "Between Myth and Mythology: Women Awakening" (William Morrow).

"We're awakening," she said. "We're getting there. Some of us are moving faster than others.

"Look at the women moving in politics. They're no longer there as a token. Women are assessing what needs to be done and they're doing it."

She believes women "would profit by a study of power and its workings ... they need to see how such political action differs from private tussles over domination in the personal sphere."

SHE CALLS IT "significant" too that women are pushing into the craft unions. Sex stereotyping is losing the game.

"The women's movement is a response to reality. We live in a world of action, activity. Look at the changes in the family structure, the scientific and medical advances where child planning is possible, our life span is

Mrs. Janeway, who writes novels and nonfiction, is a graduate and trustee of Barnard College in New York. She is a frequent speaker before professional and management groups.

She said that in the last three years of traveling about the country she had noticed changes in male audience reaction to equal rights issues.

"The men are more interested. There's less wariness," she said, "although some are confused. They ask, 'What do you want'? but they ask with an honest interest.

"The young men are reexamining their roles. They tell me they want changes too . . . they don't want to be at the grindstone all their lives. They're seeking self-growth, fulfillment. They want to be full human

As for some masculine fears of equality, Mrs. Janeway said they were based on "ignorance of how such a situation would work in practice.

"Our best evidence that the situation can work comes from the experience of those who have been living with it."

Sugar price bitter sweet

A wire service report recently told of the increase in the wholesale price of sugar produced by Amstar Corp. Amstar, the nation's largest sugar refiner, now charges $2.85 for five pounds, up

The report went on to say that most supermarkets will continue to sell sugar at well below wholesale prices, but commodity analysts predict that the retail price will go to $2.75 for five pounds by mid-November.

My interest in this announcement was heightened by the fact that it followed on the heels of a TV network news report that the sugar industry is enjoying record profits. And, not surprisingly, Amstar stock has been trading at, or near its year's highest price.

I DON'T KNOW about other lunch box packers, cookie bakers, cereal cookers and coffee drinkers, but the sugar game being played at our expense leaves a bitter taste in my mouth. And as of last week, when I read that news release, I decided that this family can do without.

Since I am not generally in the forefront of a boycott, when I made my decision to cut back sharply on our family consumption of sugar, I wondered why there hasn't been a campaign to organize shoppers to stop buying the stuff.

Maybe it's a bad time of the year. Many are busy getting scouts, club and other volunteer projects organized. Maybe it's too close to the holidays, and facing all that company with fewer sweets (that they all later try to diet away) is culturally unthinkable. Maybe this is one area where few mothers have control over their children, and getting through a day without sugar-coated cereals, frosted cookies, candy bars and pop is more than a mother can bear.

OR MAYBE WOMEN feel this is one they can't win. But I don't know why. We take for granted the expiration dates now stamped on perishable foods - a piece of information unheard of until a group of women insisted on it. Beef prices are lower than they were before the boycott led by housewives who were laughed at by "sophisticated" commodity experts and beef suppliers.

I can't believe ALL of us are intimated by sugar producers. There must be someone who is willing to stir the shopper out of her fearful apathy - someone who is persistent yet patient enough to wait for the industry's affronted reaction to the rap on its collective nose. There must be someone who would collect and distribute recipes for low sugar desserts and goodies (I have one for a starter.) And isn't there anyone who would enjoy, as a result of her work, the industry's plea for greater profits so they can build more refineries, their prime time TV and full page newspaper ads promoting a good guy image, and their appeal to our need for their product.

Maybe I'm an idealist, but I believe that the "little woman" (I hate that term, but it fits) can bring down big business. And whoever leads the pack to pull it off with the sugar industry will know how sweet it is.

by KAREN THOMPSON Terry cloth is off the towel racks.

Sheets, pillow cases and spreads are off the beds as Cannon introduces a parade of simple-to-sew fashions for adults and children.

It's hard to imagine a woman's walking suit made from seven bath towels. Or a tennis dress fashioned from a package of pillow cases. But seeing is believing and the "oohs" and "ahhs" emanating from the atdience at a recent demonstration at Wieboldt's in Randhurst proved that these innovative ideas stood the eye

Sewing with sheets and towels would have produced a rather drab wardrobe in years past. Today, with such eye-catching patterns as Royal Lace, Country Gingham, Eton and Primrose Path, the possibilities are limited only by imagination.

The array of styles modeled at the show were all made from commercial patterns including Vogue, McCalls', Simplicity, and Butterick.

WHY SEW WITH sheets, pillow cases and towels when there are so many other fabrics on the market?

Sara Labas, fashion coordinator for Cannon Homemaking Services, gave this reason:

"When you consider that there are about six square yards of permanent press fabric in one twin flat sheet and you compare the price of the sheet with an equivalent amount of material by the yard, you can see how substantial the savings really is."

Depending on the price range of the sheets you choose, her theory may save money or end up costing more than yard goods. A standard price twin sheet, $6, is a fabric bargain. But as the designs get prettier and brighter, some even using Vera designs, the cost spirals. Pillow cases, utilized in children's wear and in the tennis dress, are a substantial savings - about $4.50 per pair.

THE PICTURE changes when towels are used. To get bold colors, interesting patterns, decent size and quality, $4 is the bottom price unless you find a sale. At four to seven towels an outfit, the cost adds up. Quilted bedspreads, likewise, are no bargain. It takes one twin-sized quilted bedspread to make a twopiece pantsuit or a hostess skirt. Expensively priced at $30 and up, it would probably be cheaper to buy a

There are other reasons for sewing with these out-of-the-ordinary materials. They are unique, easy to care for and a perfect outlet for creativ-

Miss Labas, in her designs, uses every part of the material. The contrasting edging on the sheets becomes wrist or neckline ruffles. The pillow case left over from the little girl's Holly Hobby dress becomes a pinafore or a poke bonnet.

Miss Labas called the Cannon fashions "easy sew - easy care ideas that tax the imagination." In addition to her commentary on the versatile fabrics, she gave some sewing

· To slenderize places that don't need attention (mainly the hip area) she suggested lengthening a tunic or trying pants with wide tubular legs.

· To minimize the shoulder and the chest area, avoid smocking and horizontal details in the bodice of the garment and put emphasis on slimming vertical lines.

· To be sure of a perfect fit, measure the pattern for correct waist-

· Don't scrimp on trims.

· When sewing with towels in deep tones - reds, blues, oranges and purples - wash separately the first time. Excess dye crystals do remain on the fabric.

· Don't be afraid of blending checks or other patterns with florals if in the same color family.

Mass, reception, dinner fete golden wedding day

Now living in Palatine, centrally located among the towns where six of their eight children reside, John and Antonia Putman celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Saturday with most of the family around them.

Although the actual wedding date was Nov. 5, the couple arranged for a mass in St. Theresa Catholic Church and a reception all on the weekend so that their children could be there.

First there was the two o'clock mass in church, followed by a reception at the couple's home, 438 E. Lincoln, and then a dinner for 65 guests at Uncle Andy's Cow Palace in Palatine.

JOHN AND ANTONIA have lived in Palatine for three years and before that Chicago. They emigrated from Amsterdam, Netherlands, in 1951 along with their large family and settled in the city, soon becoming United States citizens.

They are actually parents of 10 children, two of whom died in their youth. One son, Thomas, of Holland, whom the family has not seen for 23 years was present, as was John's sister, Sister Alida Putman, also of Holland.

John went to work for Interlake Steel Co. soon after arriving in Chicago and retired in 1966 as an expediter. He and his wife are 74 years old.

THEY MET IN Holland when Antonia was collecting money for a charitable organization and met John at the door of one of the homes she visited. A romance began that culminated in their marriage Nov. 5, 1924 in Amsterdam.

The Putmans' children are Thomas, in Amsterdam; Mrs. Rebecca van Tilburg, Fontana, Wis.; Anton of Hazelcrest; Hendrikus, Tinley Park; Mrs. Antonia Fedor, Summit, Ill.; John of Brunswick, Ohio; Mrs. Otteline Reckamp, Arlington Heights; and Mrs. Ria Reckamp, Wonder Lake.

The couple has 26 grandchildren.

New-car prices just go up, up as sales slump

And the longer a car sits on lot, the less a dealer 'knocks off'

DETROIT (UPI) — There's a recurring question auto salesmen are hearing in their nearly deserted showrooms: "If cars aren't selling, how come the prices aren't coming down?"

Each salesman has his own answer. It usually includes the advice that prices are going even higher.

Industry executives admit the average $400 increase on their 1975 models didn't help sales, but most contered they'll have to boost the stickers again if costs continue to climb. They've already begun cutting costs with massive worker layoffs.

"The only people that can make the decision to bring prices down are the manufacturers," says Joe Girard, an East Detroit salesman who sells more cars than any other man. "Instead of cutting, they're telling us to get ready for another $225 to $250 hike. That's really going to kill us."

GIRARD SOLD 86 cars in October while the industry was delivering 625,000 cars - the worst October in 10 years and 36 per cent behind the record set in 1971. With 26,000 dealers in the United States, that averages out to 24 cars per show-

That's one main reason salesmen aren't writing the good deals of 1972 and 1973 when sales were breaking records. Dealers have cut back their sales and work forces, but they still have fixed costs they have to recover.

"The guy who used to sell 12 or 13 cars a month is now selling two or three and he's hungry," observed Girard, who is just one car below his 1973 pace. "He's going to hold out for as much as he can

"If he gets a customer now, he's going to squeeze as much out as he can."

A SALESMAN might have been willing to knock $700 off the sticker of an intermediate-size Monte Carlo last year. With sales slumping, slicing $600 off the list price would be tops.

If that car sits around in the dealer's lot for a couple of months, even fewer dollars will be knocked off since it's costing that dealer about $50 a month just for the interest on the car.

Elliott M. Estes, the new General Motors Corp. president, has all but ruled out another increase before Jan. 1. He admits that part of the industry's problem is with the higher prices, but says costs continue to escalate.

Executives cite figures like steel, the most-used material in a car, increasing by 35 per cent in the past year; iron, by 26 per cent; plastic, by 21 per cent; rubber, up 43 per cent; glass, 11 per cent, and aluminum, 61 per cent.

MEG breaks area drug ring

A major drug sales scheme which re-portedly supplied workers in industrial parks in Arlington Heights and Elk Grove Village was broken last week by the Metropolitan Enforcement Group (MEG).

MEG director John Hinchy said three Wisconsin men and a Chicago resident were arrested by MEG agents late Thursday after they allegedly sold more than 50 pounds of marijuana to the undercover police officers.

Hinchy described the group as major suppliers of marijuana throughout the industrial areas in those two villages. He said MEG agents have been working on the case for several months.

He said the agents paid the four men $4,300 for the marijuana. The arrests were made outside the Burger King restaurant, 2814 Higgins Rd., Elk Grove Vil-

Hinchy said Eric Knauer, 27, of 3205 Howard St., Chicago, and Wayne Knauer, 18, Lynn Andrew Fischer, 17, and Steven Moore, 18, all of Lake Geneva, Wis. were charged with delivery and possession of marijuana and drug conspiracy.

Knauer and Moore are being held on $50,000 bond. Bond for the other two men was set at $25,000 by Associate Judge Albert H. LaPlante.

The men are scheduled to appear in the Niles branch of the Circuit Court Dec. 10.

Win at bridge

by Oswald and James Jacoby

Lionel Jeffries

Movie, "The Crimson Blade,"

Taking a better line of play

Oswald: "Against any opening lead but a trump, South has no trouble making four spades provided he goes right after hearts. He will lose two hearts and one diamond. The other losing diamond goes on the ace of clubs and he will be able to ruff his last heart."

Jim: "Against the trump lead there are two good lines of play. The first it to cash the king of clubs; lead a heart to dummy's ace; discard a diamond on the ace of clubs and lead a second heart. The defense plays a second trump. Now when the third heart is led. West wins and does not have a trump left."

Oswald: "All plays work if hearts break 3-3. The sure-fire line against the actual East-West holding works, but it would fail if four hearts and three trumps were in the same hand.'

Jim: "That's why I took another line when I played the hand. I simply ran off four trumps, discarding a diamond from dummy. West had to discard on the third trump lead and jettisoned a heart, so I cashed my king of clubs and ducked a heart. Discarded a diamond when the club came back; played ace and one heart and claimed. It had appeared to me that any opponent with four hearts would chuck one. Old West had obliged."

Dr. Brothers 'analyzes' debut on 'Police Woman'

NEW YORK - The desire to act begins at birth, says Dr. Joyce Brothers, especially if you are born after the first child.

"Most actors are not the first born child," said Dr. Brothers. "A first born has his own identity, a responsibility and a clear picture of his place in the world.

"When you are the first born everyone loves you. If you are the second born, two people love you, and one hates you, the first child. This is the way the world is - people will love you and hate you. So later children are tougher, they have more resiliency, but they don't have a clear identity, and they start to seek adulation, approval. This leads to acting."

DR. BROTHERS, a psychologist, made her acting debut in a recent episode of NBC's "Police Woman."

"Actors admit that they are more comfortable when they try on a role," she said. "Ingrid Bergman, for example, says she can do many things on a stage that she can't do in life.'

Nevertheless, Dr. Brothers isn't going to act. "When I think of acting, I usually think of projecting," she said. "But all I did was talk. It was a conversation and only afterwards did I realize what I did. We did it in one take, too."

WAS SHE NERVOUS?

"Oh, not at all," she said. "I mean the worst thing they could have done was say I was really bad, and then got another actor. You can make life a lot easier if you think about the worst that can happen. The worst that can happen is the worst that can happen, everything else is a plus."

Did the cameo role signal a new career for the syndicated columnist and media personality?

"Hardly," she said, "I was a first child and I never wanted to act. Besides, I'm no spring chicken."

Willowbrook's Domin lives up to his press clippings

Tom Domin oughta be All-State hands down. You can put him at halfback or linebacker. And then someplace like Ohio State. Nebraska or maybe the World Football League.

The kid is Too Much . . . too big, too strong, too smart. With 22 football players like Domin, even the most questionable coach would seem brilliant.

Domin was Thorn No. 1 stuck in just about everyone's side Saturday during Willowbrook's convincing 22-6 quarterfinal victory oer St. Viator in the IHSA Class 5A football championship series.

Admittedly, the kid is surrounded by a super cast on both sides of scrimmage. The Warriors haven't put together their 10-1 record, that single loss a forfeit, by sending some nebbishes out there in uni-

They've got talent up and down both lines, in the defensive and offensive backfields . . . you name it, Willowbrook seems loaded.

But emerging as the best is Domin. At 6-foot-3 and more than 200 pounds, he's reminiscent of Scott Dierking, powerful West Chicago star of two years ago who now starts at fullback for Purdue Uni-

Guys like Domin and Dierking don't merely run over people. They splatter them. It kinda hurts just watching.

"The coaches told us that you've gotta drag him down, that he won't stop coming," said Viator middle linebacker Mark Selvig. "We had to gang tackle. You can't have just one guy stopping him. It had to be a team effort. What they told us about him was true."

Here's a capsule of Domin's afternoon: 28 rushes for 134 yards, three kick runbacks totalling 91 yards, a 67-yard punt return that set up Willowbrook's second touchdown, one fumble recovery to stop the Lions near halftime and numerous tackles or pass deflections.

Alas, Domin fumbled twice, both in the second half. A handoff mixup with quarterack Jim Bronson was credited against him just before Bronson ran 13 yards to give Willowbrook its 13-0 early third period lead.

In that same quarter, Domin powered 13 yards down to St. Viator's two but fumbled into the endzone, Lions' cornerback Terry Frett covering for a touch-

Otherwise, there wasn't too much that could be done to stop his progress. Three rushing gains went for 13 yards apiece. Domin had other efforts of 12, 10, nine

The guy's no one game fluke. He gained 135 yards last Wednesday in Willowbrook's 21-3 victory over Niles West. Eighteen touchdowns are Domin's property and 1,453 yards rushing. Not to forget six interceptions and four fumble recoveries on defense.

"He rises to the big game attraction and gets the job done," Willowbrook coach Clint Evans said of Domin who's also an All-Des Plaines Valley hasketball and baseball player. "Against the also-rans he used to have a little letdown but that hasn't happened this season.

"Tom was a very tired young man for us today. He's done a lot of playing both ways," Evans said. "On that punt return he just plain ran out of gas. Maybe we've been giving him the ball a little too much when he ought to be getting some rest." The pressure of major college recruiters has also borne upon Domin. "Everytime he carries the ball people are expecting a touchdown," Evans said. "Like today near the goal line he fumbles. Sure he might have been carrying it, though." Willowbrook runs its offensive backs out of a two-point (which means feet) stance rather than the usual three-point. Evans says it's faster plus "Tom is by the ball too far out, but I can't really get too upset. We'll have a little talk about far the fastest out of that stance I've ever seen and we've had some 9.8 second

"When Domin hits up in there many times the quarterback has had to follow him through the hole becase he got there too quickly and just kept going. I'm sure he'll be a great college back," Evans as-

Domin's third quarter punt runback put the lid near Viator's coffin. Within minutes, the Warriors began sealing it tight, adding 15 third period points to their 7-0 halftime lead.

The big running back caught Greg Kay's punt at his own 27, started straight upfield, cut outside and then picked up a block that eliminated Viator's Vic La-

Near midfield, Domin switched directions and was finally tackled down near the left sideline when Kay got him high and Bill Deal low. Early in the run, it seemed LaMantia would get him.

"I usually get down there pretty fast so I was right on top of him," LaMantia said. "Then he started that cut outside so I went that way but his lead blocker got my body from the blind side. I never saw him coming. Yeah, that was it for me."

Domin and more Domin was predictable. The Warriors went into Saturday's game without usual quarterback Bob Jurasek, injured against Niles West. Bronson and Dave Ornelis shared duties and it made no difference who handed off to the big guy. His defense was certainly superb, also. Domin recovered a Walsh fumble that stopped Viator at Willowbrook's 16-yard line late in the second period. And Walsh was impressed with Domin's pass protec-

"He's a smart player, especially on the middle passes," said Walsh who was eight-of-20 for 76 yards. "He could smell 'em and was sitting right in there."

Domin dumped Walsh for a one-yard loss before Viator's line score, a Walsh to Pat Bucaro seven-yard TD pass in the fourth period. And when Joe Littwin tried to sweep left for the conversion, it was Domin making the tackle.

"Those guys have talent, size and speed," said Viator coach Jim Lyne. "Domin is the spark that makes them something extra special in this kind of competition. That punt return was a beautiful thing. Yeah, he' a super ball-

Lions' banner year ends with 22-6 setback

Rugged Willowbrook shows strength in tourney win

by MIKE KLEIN

Bobby Walsh took the last center snap of Tim Halas' high school football career and began scurrying for daylight down his near sideline. Forty-three yards later, a bevy of Willowbrook defenders ran Walsh out-of-bounds. And the Lions' varsity season was ready for scrapbooks.

Willowbrook 22, St. Viator 6. Only our area hermits don't already know that result in IHSA Class 5A quarterfinals Saturday at Forest View. There will be no state championship for the Lions. At least not this season.

But these kids went out with a 9-2 record and their heads up. After all, it is no disgrace when you lose to a better football. Disgrace is losing to yourself, which didn't happen.

Walsh's last play ... who really needed it? All it did was change the statistics a mite and make him Viator's leading rusher with 79 yards. But it seemed important as every other play. So when Viator's defense stopped Willowbrook on fourth and eight, Walsh raced onfield, chasing a timeout to delay the last five seconds.

Then he carried that darned football as if Viator was 85 yards from victory, not a token touchdown. Linemen didn't stand around; they blocked. And then the Lions acknowledged their defeat by congratulating Willowbrook. It was total

St. Viator had just three offensive outbursts. They earned four first downs on their opening drive and nearly scored when Walsh's pass to Pat Bucaro fell a little long. It would have been a 34-yard TD to Bucaro who was double covered.

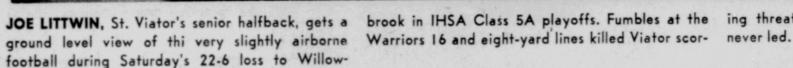

The Lions marched to Willowbrook's 16 during the second period where they committed one of two suicidal fumbles. And they finally got on the board with 9:52 remaining when Walsh hit Bucaro with a seven-yard TD pass.

Otherwise, it was nearly all Willowbrook which played super hard-hitting, aggressive football. One young man name of Tom Domin rushed 134 yards, recovered a fumble to snuff out one Viator drive, run a punt 67 yards to set up the Warriors' second touchdown and created havoc all afternoon at left inside

And the Warriors converted breaks, of which there were three in the opening half. One gave Willowbrook a 7-0 lead, then two defensive efforts kept Viator

These Lions and Warriors battled through a scoreless first period. If either team had momentum, it was probably Viator which sustained its opening drive which had real decent overall size plus a couple huge folks and excellent pursuit. So de Sales won, but not until overtime. Finally, there was Willowbrook. The

Then along came St. Francis de Sales

Warriors meshed size and speed in their defensive line like St. Viator's Lions hadn't seen all year. Their tight linebackers, multi-talented

Tom Domin and Bill Moscatello, played a sound reading game that produced a fumble recovery for each, ending second period Viator threats. So when the breaks began swinging in Willowbrook's direction, the Warriors swarmed in upon St. Viator's little people for their 22-6 victory in quarterfinals of the IHSA Class 5A football championship

All season, the Lions had relied on quickness and guile, flip flopping their offensive line, using every trick possible to outsmart stronger and larger oppo-

And it worked against nine teams. St. Francis solved the puzzle for a 10-7 overtime win because the Pioneers were solid and strong at the tackles plus quick and big on both ends.

However, they weren't anything like that Willowbrook group which went running after Viator quarterback Bobby Walsh and his backfield friends. This statement comes certified by those Lions block the onslaught.

"They're about one step better," Viator offensive guard Vic LaMantia said when asked to compare Willowbrook's defensive line with the aforementioned

"Those guys on our right side were big and controlled their areas. Then they were getting pursuit from our left. They've just got good all-around talent."

The Warriors gave Walsh one defensive look all afternoon: BIG with four down linemen and two stand-up linebackers. So what you've got is a split 6-2 plus two cornerbacks and one safety.

The guy nobody could miss was No. 78, one Dave Whelpley who goes 6-foot-1, 272 pounds and is nobody's pushover fat boy at left tackle. But he might have done less damage than his teammates.

Walsh had passes blocked hard by left outside linebacker Brian Bailey and left end Al Havenga, the people whom La-Mantia had said controlled their ground.

On the right side, Willowbrook got a super pass rush from tackle Tom Shallcross (5-10, 168), end Bill Doherty (5-10, 193) and linebacker Bruce Kelsey (6-3, 175). Kelsey also hurt the Lions offen-

Kelsey's 63-yard end-around reverse, longest spring from scrimmage this year against Viator, put the Warriors ahead

7-0, a margin they had at intermission. Viator offensive tackle Marty Drazba was especially impressed with Doherty who made many stops against halfbacks who spent Saturday afternoon trying to Joe Littwin, John Breen and Jack Gracheck. He also gave Walsh fits.

> "He was really quick on pass penetration," Drazba said. "He'd line up way outside the tackle and fire out. If there wasn't a tight end block, it was almost impossible to get him."

Indeed, Doherty and Shallcross put on the heat that gave the Warriors their questionable third period safety points. Walsh was dumped first by Doherty for a 10-yard loss trying to pass.

That gave the Lions third and 20 from their own nine. Now it's Doherty and Shallcross all over Walsh in the endzone. Walsh got rid of the ball to an area where no receiver existed.

And the ensuing flag was assumed to be intentional grounding. But not so, even to the amazement of Willowbrook coach Clint Evans who, like most everyone else, couldn't figure the call.

"I asked our kids why it was a safety and they didn't know," admitted Evans. "I assumed it was intentional grounding but that shouldn't give you a safety,

"The only thing I can figure is that his (Walsh's), knee might have hit the ground but from where I was standing, it didn't look like he hit. We just figured on a penalty and loss of down."

after Greg Kay's free punt Willowbrook added its last seven points. Viator finally got on the board when Walsh found Pat Bucaro free in the endzone.

That break made it 15-0. Four plays

Nearly 10 minutes remained but Willowbrook ate up six minutes with 11 rushes and three first downs before Viator ever handled the ball again.

"That drive that used up the clock was super football," said Viator coach Jim Lyne. "There's no telling what might happen if we stop them. Bobby's back there scrambling. Our receivers haven't lost their desire. You never give up. At least, our kids don't. They're not that through four first downs before Greg Kay's 34-yard touchback punt.

Possessions were exchanged. Now we're into the second period, third play. Willowbrook faces third and six. Domin has run on three of four previous third down situations. There was no reason to expect that would change.

But it did. And coming from left end, senior Bruce Kelsey took Jim Bronson's handoff, raced down the right sideline, juked Pat Rooney's tackle try at Viator's 25 and scored. It was a 63-yard run, his only rush all afternoon. Mark Plewa's kick made it 7-0.

That sorta shook the stuffings inside Viator which had trailed just twice this year in regulation periods, against Hersey and St. Patrick. It was a play no one had seen before and totally unexpected.

"At that point, we'd stopped them defensively," said Viator coach Jim Lyne. "So it was very demoralizing to have something like that happen. I've got to consider the emotional aspects.

"Their offensive is explosive with the wishbone and option pitch. That number 25 (Domin) is going to explode sooner or later. But at that point, they weren't blowing us out.

"They had one poor punt that had given us good field position and we were getting first downs," Lyne said. "So, yeah, that was very demoralizing. It didn't completely win the game for them but it sure did hurt."

Viator got the next break, stopping a fake punt attempt after Willowbrook had reached fourth and two on the Lions' 42 about four minutes later. Punter Jim Ryan was a decoy for the snap which went straight to fullback Kevin

But the ball evaded McCarthy who finally made the retrieval but was swarmed upon by Mark Michuda, Jim Lecture and Vic LaMantia, losing four yards.

Viator's Walsh completed a third and 10 pass to Jim Thompson for nine yards. Then John Breen ran nine more on fourth down, reaching Willowbrook's 36. And the Lions were looking glorious.

Out there despite two cracked ribs, Joe Littwin ran twice for 13 yards before Walsh got six and Jack Gracheck one. was third and three on the Warriors' 16. But Viator fumbled and Domin. a great football player, recovered.

"That's a dive play," said Walsh. "I'm supposed to come down the line and hand it inside. Their defensive tackle beat our man and hit me just as I'm laying the ball in there. That knocked it loose."

So Domin gets four yards, then one rushing. A great play by cornerback John McShea prevented a third down completion from Dave Ornelis to Brian Bailey. And the Lions were alive on Willowbrook's eight when punter Ryan fielded the center snap with his left knee touching ground.

Pressure from the Warriors' huge sixman front line, the best combination of size and speed Viator faced all season, cost the Lions again. Walsh and Littwin didn't have time to complete their handoff, Bill Moscatello grabbing the bobbled ball on the Lions' first play. He's the right linebacker alongside Domin.

"It's a ram play," Littwin said of his aborted straight ahead effort. "Breen leads into the hole and I'm supposed to go right behind. Their defensive tackle got his helmet right in there when I was taking the handoff and popped the ball

Littwin trundled slowly off field in obvious disgust. "I said bleep about 25 times," he remembered. Considering his two ribs cracked against Deerfield, it's remarkable Littwin suited up. "Everytime I get hit I can't breathe," he ex-

So Viator trailed 7-0 at intermission, having fumbled away two offensive opportunities and fallen prey to Kelsey's surprise 63-yard run. But they were very much in the game.

It was all over when Willowbrook busted across two TDs and a safety for the only third period points, 15 of them, that anyone scored all season against Viator. That made it 22-0 and locked up Willowbrook's semi-final berth next week against Glenbrook North, a 13-0 winner Saturday at East Leyden.

Bronson got Willowbrook's second touchdown, a 13-yard scamper at 9:13, just two plays after Domin broke a punt 67 yards to Viator's six where he was hauled down by Kay and Bill Deal. Domin lost seven yards, Mike Murray on the tackle, before Bronson's touchdown

Jack Gracheck's first play fumble then set the Warriors up with a new set of downs on Viator's 25. They picked up 10 yards, then gave to Domin who ran for 13 to Viator's two where the ball was jarred loose. Terry Frett prevented a Willowbrook touchdown when he recovered for a touchback.

But Viator couldn't move as its running attack bogged down and Walsh faced constant pressure on an eight-of-20 passing day. Two series later, Bill Doherty and Tom Shallcross caught Walsh for a nine-yard loss and the safety.

Walsh never touched ground until after he had thrown an incomplete pass. So there was no clear explanation for the safety. "That's one thing I couldn't figure out either," Walsh said, adding the officials gave him no reason.

What followed was Willowbrook taking possession on Victor's 44 after Kay's free punt. Jay Landen ran 19 yards. On third down, Ornelis sent Tom Bolke out of the backfield to catch a 25-vard touchdown pass. Plewa's kick made it 22-0 and the Warriors had won a very important foot-

Conqueror of Schaumburg falters against Glenbrook in state action

by KEITH REINHARD As a rushing team, you can give Glen-brook North passing marks.

As a defensive unit, you might want to grade them a little stronger, like that C

. . . . as in concrete. Whatever the rating, it was a combination of the two traits that did in East Leyden Saturday in their home roost, 13-0. Glenbrook threw only three times all afternoon but completed two for touchdowns and their miserly handling of the potent Eagle offense was enough to make Scrooge McDuck look like a spendthrift.

As a result the Spartans will now advance to the semifinals of the Class 5A state football showdown next Saturday after making the Eagles their 10th straight victim this season. East Leyden had ousted Schaumburg on Wednesday, Coach Hal Samorian's visiting crew tallied once in each half, while holding the usually explosive Leyden offense almost totally at bay. The Eagles picked up a pair of first downs in each half, completed only one of five passes and collected less than 60 yards of total offense while never really threatening.

the way, but it wasn't that much of a comfort to me . . . until we scored our second touchdown and put some breathing room between us," Samorian commented. "Up to that time we knew how capable they were of breaking off the big one at any moment."

About the closest Leyden did come to breaking off a big one was a 21-yard scamper by fullback Ralph Dolce into the Spartan secondary. That occurred in the third quarter and was followed two plays later by the deepest penetration of the hosts into enemy territory: the 39

During the remainder of the contest the Jack Miller-led GBN defense barely allowed the Eagles an occasional glimpse of the midfield marker. In the fourth period the home team managed only six plays from scrimmage.

Holding in the opposition is not a new story, of course. As Glenbrook defensive coach Chuck Hansen pointed out, middle and the rest of the bunch have limited "We may have been in command all the foe to an average of 90 yards of total offense over nine previous games.

> The Spartans put their first TD on the board late in the opening period, Sam Poulos hauling in a 55-yard fling from quarterback Don Broadbridge and Paulos subsequently toeing over the ex-

That vulnerable 7-0 lead held through half time and past several GBN scoring opportunities in the final two segments. A bobbled Leyden punt return at one point had the guests setting up shop 21 yards away from paydirt.

On another occasion a 31-yard jaunt by Greg Van Schaack advanced the ball inside the Eagle 20. Finally, the Spartans and their usually lethal running tandem of Van Schaack, Mike Kiepura and Greg Woodsum were stalled at the East Leyden 22 on another drive midway through the fourth stanza. This time the call went out for a 37yard field goal attempt by Poulos but the snap went high to holder Broadbridge instead. And when end Moller peeled off for the end zone, he ran right under the quarterback's perfect pitch to put the game on ice.

Glenbrook North, after victories on the road now at Evanston (7-6) and Leyden, face a Willowbrook team that earlier administered the only previous Eagle setback of the campaign.

The winner this Saturday goes on to Illinois State for the championship showdown against either East St. Louis or Gordon Tech on Nov. 23.

Bears' season turns to mud

The Chicago Bears must have practiced in a vacuum all season.

Coach Abe Gibron's team of youngsters (will they ever get any older) were buried in the mud by Green Bay Sunday, 20-3, at Milwaukee's quagmired County

And I suppose the big excuse oozing from the Bear lockerroom afterwards was the condition of the field. Seven turnovers are a lot to attribute to a muddy gridiron.

Even more surprising is the fact that Green Bay thrived in the slop. The Packers were still able to run, throw, block

Maybe the Bears were just too persistent in extending their losing streak to three straight games. They did succeed in running their touchdown-less skein to 15 straight quarters.

The combination of the two snowballing statistics has got to make Gibron a canddidate for the employment lines. The results of Sunday's watered-down contest was considered more a measuring stick for the endurance of each team's head coach rather than an actual test of the two clubs.

Packer head man Dan Devine appeared to have won . . . for now. But he would have to give most of the credit for his job extension to the total lapse by the Chicago specialty teams.

Three obvious failures by the Chicago suicide squad put the Pack in the dirver's seat of a contest that matched 3-5 clubs headed nowhere.

The first Green Bay "gift" came midway through the opening period with Chicago already sitting on a 3-0 lead. Miro Roder, whose only job for the Bears is to accurately sidewind the ball with right foot, inexplicably shanked a "cinch" 20-yard attempt that would have made it 6-0.

Later in the same stanza, the Bears had an excellent opportunity to gain ball possession deep in Green Bay territory

when Pack punter Randy Walker was forced to boot with his heels shadowing

But Walker received a high snap from center, knocked the ball down and ran 25 yards out of the endzone and past Chicago's powder-puff rush for a first down.

The killer came at the conclusion of the first half. Well, almost the conclusion. With just a handful of second remaining, most of the Bears must have already been in the dry lockerroom when Bob Parsons punted to the Green Bay five yard line.

Packer kick returner Steve Odom fumbled the boot but found the handle and danced through the imaginary Bear kick coverage unit for the decisive points and a 10-3 Pack lead at intermission.

While Chicago continued to resemble Janet Lynn with her first pair of ice skates on the rain-slicken field during the second half, Marcol padded the winning margin to 13-3 with a 24-yard field goal at the start of the fourth quarter. The Packers' mud-slinging campaign didn't end until John Brockington squirted over from a yard away with just

:08 left in the game. It was quite an insult to the Bears and Gibron who were deceived into believing the clock. Instead Green Bay's "Mr.

Franchise" John Hadl passed for a first down with seconds remaining to add an extra helping of salt to Chicago's The Bears offense, which was virtually non-existent in the second half despite the presence of hobbled quarterback Gary Huff, has now accounted for nine points in its last three games.

If Chicago still believes it has a shot as a wild-card entry into the post-season playoffs, it may be shocked to learn the league doesn't want jokers.

Mistakes costly in Harper's loss

by CHARLIE DICKINSON

A busload of rabble rousers out of President Gerald R. Ford's backyard sashayeed down the turnpike Saturday, saw their football team from Grand Rapids take a 20-7 gratuity from Harper, then, ironically, stood on line at a local liquor store for two hours to whip inflation now by taking advantage of reduced Illinois luxury taxes.

One shopper commented, while hoisting a case of Jim Beam, "We saw Woodfield and cleaned up on all this booze. Hell, the football was the whole point of the trip and the game was the low point of the afternoon."

For Grand Rapids fans the trip could have been a lot less fulfilling if Harper had been able to hold off on the blunders that consistently foiled their offense. The Raiders had won their last half dozen games in a row, scoring a lot of points in the process and were beating a demanding schedule besides.

Harper was supposed to be a breather. But when the first quarter ground to a halt the Raider were up only 3-0, could very easily have been down 10-0 and had gained minus four yards rushing. At the half they had jacked their rushing figures up to eight.

The first period was a nightmare of missed opportunities and freakish mistakes for Harper. Greg Tyson, Rich Lehnert. John Miller and the rest of the defense was bedeviling the Raiders' offense but the Harper offense was not keeping up its half of the bargain.

The first offensive series failed, the second came up dry when Dave Patterson's 50-yard field goal attempt was 10 inches wide, the third ended when Gary Mueller's pass deflected off Frank Bavaro into the hands of Raider Jim Wierzbicki and the fourth snuffed out with Mike Amundsen's fumble on the first

The final offensive series of the first quarter bled over into the second and ended with Patterson coming up short on a 35-yard field goal try.

"I think the key to the game," Harper coach John Eliasik said, "was our mistakes. If we could have eliminated all those I think we could have won."

"Yes," said Grand Rapids coach Gordon Hunsberger. "I don't think there is any question that they beat themselves early. We came down here expecting a pretty tough football game, you always do when you play at this level, but we were amazed at how well they took away our running plays. Our backs were coming back to the bench after carrying the ball, shaking their heads because they hadn't expected to get hit so hard.

"It was kind of scarey."

Harper's dominance of the Raider running game caused Grand Rapids to switch to a quarterback, Lee Stiltner, who could throw the ball and loosen up Harper's defense. Stiltner was only marginally successful, completing four of 10 passes for 48 yards, but the bulk of those yards came on one play, a 33-yard pass to Al Zyskowski that put the ball on Harper's one yard line.

Fred Hurt knuckled over on two tries to give Grand Rapids a 13-0 lead at the Amundsen, with 84 yards on 17 carries, was the bright spot in the Harper running game but fumbled twice, the second more costly. That came on the first play of the third period and gave the Raiders the ball on Harper's 26 yard line. Stiltner's 20 yard run to the three set up Hurst's second touchdown.

The prospect of Harper concluding their season with a shutout, they had been shut out at the half for the first time all year, became a real possibility as the third quarter's offense concluded three times with Patterson punts.

Yet during each series Ervin Kimbrough was working on Raider defensive back Ed Therriault for short yardage (Continued on next page)

Dist. 54 cross country title to Eisenhower team

Eisenhower Junior High School captured the overall championship in Dist. 54's 1974 cross country conference meet by sweeping three firsts and a second place in the four divisions.

Harriers from Eisenhower won the races for seventh and eighth grade boys and seventh grade girls. The only race they didn't manage to win was that for eighth grade girls.

In the overall point scheme, Eisenhower was first, Frost Junior High was second, Addams was third, and Keller was fourth. The runners from Frost were the winners in the eighth grade girls Leading the eighth grade boys was Hannon of Eisenhower, who circuited the course in 7:09. He was followed into the chute by Applebeck of Keller and Storm of Eisenhower.

The eighth grade girls were paced by Frost's Claudia Treder (6:07) in first, Debbie Schulz of Addams and Vicki Schneider of Frost.

The seventh grade girls were led by Eisenhower's Sandy Parks in 6:12, followed closely by Frost's Leigh Krzywozinski and Addams' Jackie Hendricks.

In first place for the seventh grade boys was Eisenhower's Armstrong (7:17). Well behind his winning time were Tim Clausen of Addams and Matheson of Eisenhower.

Frost's second place overall finish came on the strength of its one first place, a second and a pair of thirds. Addams notched two seconds, a third, and a fourth. Keller garnered one third-place

The format for the World Open is the same as last year, with 20 spots reserved for foreign entries. The tournament started Sunday with a Pro-Am.
